The name of the Regional Edition shall be: WAIFF [Country / City / Region].

The Regional Edition forms part of the international WAIFF ecosystem, but shall be locally organized, financed and operated by Party B, subject to Party A's supervision and approval regarding the WAIFF brand, standards and reputation.

Brand Assets also include non-public information and materials relating to the WAIFF competition and programming system, including, without limitation, competition entries, film submission files, film synopses, director and production team information, award recipient information, jury materials, film production workflows, AI creative process descriptions, technical notes, production methods, project files, behind-the-scenes materials, submission platform data and any other content or data relating to submitted, selected or awarded films, provided that such rights are legally protected and that the necessary authorizations have been lawfully obtained by Party A or Party B.

“Authorized Territory” means the country, city or territory specified in the Key Terms Schedule.

3.1 bis — Authorization Instrument

Party A shall provide Party B, at the time of signature of this Agreement or upon request, with a copy of the authorization instrument issued by Institut EuroplA expressly granting Party A the right to sublicense the WAIFF brand for international regional editions. Such instrument shall be provided separately upon request and shall form an integral part of this Agreement. In the absence of such documentation, Party B shall be entitled to suspend performance of its obligations under this Agreement until such documentation is provided.

3.2 Exclusive or Non-exclusive License

The nature of the license shall be [exclusive / non-exclusive] as specified in the Key Terms Schedule.

Option A — Non-exclusive License

If the license is non-exclusive, Party A shall remain free to organize, authorize, support or participate in other WAIFF-related activities within the Authorized Territory or elsewhere, provided that such activities do not intentionally create market confusion with the Regional Edition.

Option B — Exclusive License

If the license is exclusive, the scope of exclusivity shall be limited to the scope expressly set out in the Key Terms Schedule. The Parties shall interpret such exclusivity in good faith, taking into account the purpose of the Regional Edition, the Authorized Territory, the commercial balance agreed between the Parties and the need to preserve the international development of WAIFF.

Unless expressly stated otherwise in the Key Terms Schedule, exclusivity shall apply only to the organization and development of the official Regional Edition within the Authorized Territory and shall not prevent Party A, Institut EuroplA or WAIFF Cannes from conducting, supporting or participating in activities of an international, educational, institutional, promotional, academic, online or sponsor-related nature, provided that such activities are not presented as a separate competing WAIFF Regional Edition within the same exclusive scope.
